Polish Scientific Networks Conference 2022: Climate Change - Science & Society (June 3-5, 2022)

Dear Climate Change Research community and Polish Scientific Networks Friends

We are delighted to announce that the Polish Scientific Networks Conference 2022: Climate Change - Science & Society will be hosted by the University of Wrocław from 3rd - 5th June 2022 in Wrocław.

This edition of PSN conference is jointly organized by the Polish Young Academy, the University of Wrocław, and Association of the Foundation for Polish Science Scholars. The focus of this edition of PSN conferences is the causes and impacts of climatic changes - one of the biggest challenges we face in modern science, society, economy, and culture.

Please see Circular 1 with important dates and information as well as a conference flyer for the promotion of the event at your institutions.

The official call-for-abstracts and registration will open on 1st February 2022. We will welcome abstracts from any theme of climate change impacts on the environment, economy, society, and culture and particularly encourage early career researchers and practitioners to consider attending.
